E.1 COMMUNICATION IN RESIDENCES

POLICY

Total communication refers to a philosophy of communication, incorporating a full spectrum of communication modes (sign language, fingerspelling, speech, speechreading, auditory training, pictorial symbols Blissymbolics, reading, writing, mime and gesture) which should be used to the maximum degree possible to communicate appropriately with each individual.

This communication programming should extend throughout the individual's life, including one's personal life, and one's home and community activities.

All TCE homes will provide maximum communication opportunity for its residents, surrounding them with modes of communication suitable to their communication style. Even between two members of staff, resident-appropriate communication is encouraged so as to make the communication style within the home as natural as possible.

E.2 WORKPLACE VIOLENCE AND HARASSMENT PREVENTION POLICY AND PROCEDURE

Plan Developed In consultation with TCE's JHSC, CUPE: March 2010;

Approved by TCE's Board of Directors on Dec 29, 2015;

Revised October 2017; Revision approved by TCE's Board of Directors on Mar 26, 2018.

POLICY

Total Communication Environment is committed to providing a work environment in which all workers are treated with respect and dignity. Workplace harassment will not be tolerated from any person in the workplace including employees, residents, and families of residents, students, volunteers, contractors, consultants, and visitors.

Compliance with the Workplace Violence & Harassment Prevention Policy is a condition of employment and will be evaluated, together with other aspects of an employee's performance. Total Communication complies with the following relevant legislation governing workplace violence and harassment in Ontario:

- The Occupational Health and Safety Act
- The Criminal Code of Canada
- The Ontario Human Rights Code
- The Workplace Safety and Insurance Act, 1997
- The Compensation for Victims of Crime Act
- The Regulated Health Professions Act

In most cases, violence committed by a resident is considered a behavioural/mental health issue and will be dealt with as a clinical issue. Appropriate counselling from Behavioural Therapists, Psychiatrists, etc. will be obtained, as well as any required training in the implementation of appropriate Behavioural Approaches such as CPI and other relevant precautionary measures including increased safe management practices, increased reviews, data collection, and Behaviour Guidelines as implemented by Psychiatrists/Clinical team(s). Supports for employees during this process will be applied and offered during the reporting and debriefing following a resident related incident and/or serious occurrence. Please refer to Behavioural Supports Policy and Serious Occurrence Reporting Policy for additional information.

Workplace Violence and Harassment will not be tolerated in employment-related incidents that occur both within or beyond the normal workplace, inside or outside working hours, or on or off company premises, while conducting company business, or at company functions or social events, on social media, whether such violence is perpetrated by directors, managers, employees, residents, families of residents, students, volunteers, contractors, visitors, or members of the public.

Workers are encouraged to report any incidents of workplace harassment to their Program Supervisor or designated supervisor, a union or JHSC rep, the Human Resources Advisor, or the Director of Operations.

Management will investigate all complaints or incidents of workplace harassment in a fair, respectful and timely manner. Information provided about an incident or about a complaint will not be disclosed except as necessary to protect workers, to investigate the complaint or incident, to take corrective action or as otherwise required by law.

Managers, supervisors and workers are expected to adhere to this policy, and will be held responsible by the employer for not following it. Workers are not to be penalized or disciplined for reporting an incident or for participating in an investigation involving workplace harassment. Total Communication Environment will not discriminate or retaliate against employees because they are perceived to be instigators or victims of workplace violence and harassment.

Failure to comply with this policy may lead to disciplinary measures up to and including termination.

Purpose

Total Communication Environment is committed to preventing workplace violence and harassment. This policy defines behaviour that constitutes workplace violence and harassment, and explains procedures for reporting and resolving such incidents.

TCE is committed to providing a working environment free of violence and harassment by familiarizing all workplace parties with the related terminology as well as their individual responsibilities for prevention and corrective action.

Definitions Associated with Workplace Violence and Harassment

Workplace Violence:

The OHSA defines workplace violence as the exercise of physical force by a person against a worker, in a workplace, that causes or could cause physical injury to the worker. It also includes an:

- attempt to exercise physical force against a worker in a workplace, that could cause physical injury to the worker; and a
- statement or behaviour that a worker could reasonably interpret as a threat to exercise physical force against the worker, in a workplace, that could cause physical injury to the worker [section 1].

This may include:

- verbally threatening to attack a worker;
- leaving threatening notes at or sending threatening e-mails to a workplace;
- shaking a fist in a worker's face;
- wielding a weapon at work;
- hitting or trying to hit a worker;
- throwing an object at a worker;
- sexual violence against a worker;
- kicking an object the worker is standing on such as a ladder; or
- trying to run down a worker using a vehicle or equipment.

Accidental situations – such as a worker tripping over an object and pushing a co-worker as a result – are not meant to be included.

Threat (verbal or written):

A threat is a communicated intent to inflict physical or other harm on any person or to property by some unlawful act. A direct threat is a clear and explicit communication distinctly indicating that the potential offender intends to do harm, for example, "I am going to make you pay for what you did to me." A conditional threat involves a condition, for example, "If you don't leave me alone you will regret it." Veiled threats usually involve body language or behaviors that leave little doubt in the mind of the victim that the perpetrator intends to harm.

Domestic violence:

A person who has a personal relationship with a worker – such as a spouse or former spouse, current or former intimate partner or a family member – may physically harm, or attempt or threaten to physically harm, that worker at work. In these situations, domestic violence is considered workplace violence.

Psychological/ Personal harassment:

Psychological/ Personal harassment is a pattern of behavior that makes one feel worthless, flawed, unloved, or endangered. Like other forms of abuse, it is based on power and control.

This may include:

- swearing, put-downs/name calling over a period of time
- labeling the victim in a derogatory way such stupid, crazy or irrational
- acts of humiliation, extreme jealous behavior, or attacking the victim's self-esteem in other ways
- harming pets and damaging property.

When these types of behaviour occur in the workplace, it is often referred to as workplace harassment.

Workplace Harassment and Sexual Harassment:

Workplace harassment means engaging in a course of vexatious comments or conduct against a worker in a workplace that is known or ought reasonably to be known to be unwelcome or workplace sexual harassment.

Workplace sexual harassment means:

- a. engaging in a course of vexatious comment or conduct against a worker in a workplace because of sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression, where the course of comment or conduct is known or ought reasonably to be known to be unwelcome, or
- b. making a sexual solicitation or advance where the person making the solicitation or advance is in a position to confer, grant or deny a benefit or advancement to the worker and the person knows or ought reasonably to know that the solicitation or advance is unwelcome;

Workplace harassment:

Workplace harassment can involve unwelcome words or actions that are known or should be known to be offensive, embarrassing, humiliating or demeaning to a worker or group of workers, in a workplace. It can also include behaviour that intimidates isolates or even discriminates against the targeted individual(s) due to a personal dislike or personality conflict because of but not limited to a prohibited ground of discrimination under the Human Rights Code including race, ancestry, place of origin, colour, ethnic origin, citizenship, creed, sex, sexual orientation, disability, age, marital status, family status, gender identity, or record of offence..

This may include:

- making remarks, jokes or innuendos that demean, ridicule, intimidate, or offend;
- displaying or circulating offensive pictures or materials in print or electronic form;

Section E: Human Resources

- excessive profanity, vulgarity, ridicule, belittling, or derogatory name calling
- repeated offensive, embarrassing or intimidating phone calls or e-mails; or
- Bullying: repeated and persistent negative acts towards one or more individuals, which involve a perceived power imbalance and create a hostile work environment.

Examples of bullying include:

- Isolating and excluding a worker
 - Silent treatment
 - Excessive or unjustified criticism
 - Over monitoring and/or trivial fault finding
 - Withholding information and/or job responsibilities
 - Replacing proper work with demeaning work
 - Unrealistic goals and deadlines
 - Sabotaging work
 - Gossip and false rumors
 - Harassing body language
- Workplace sexual harassment such as:
 - asking questions, talking, or writing about sexual activities;
 - rough or vulgar humour or language related to sexuality, sexual orientation or gender;
 - displaying or circulating pornography, sexual images, or offensive sexual jokes in print or electronic form;
 - leering or inappropriate staring;
 - invading personal space;
 - unnecessary physical contact, including inappropriate touching;
 - demanding hugs, dates, or sexual favours;
 - making gender-related comments about someone's physical characteristics, mannerisms, or conformity to sex-role stereotypes;
 - verbally abusing, threatening or taunting someone based on gender or sexual orientation; or,
 - threatening to penalize or otherwise punish a worker if they refuse a sexual advance.

The comments or conduct involved with personal and workplace harassment typically happen more than once. They could occur over a relatively short period of time (for example, during the course of one day) or over a longer period of time (weeks, months or years). However, there may be situations where the conduct happens only once.

What isn't workplace harassment?

“A reasonable action taken by an employer or supervisor relating to the management and direction of workers or the workplace” [section 1 (4)].

Reasonable management actions would be part of a manager's or supervisor's normal work function, and could include changes in work assignments, scheduling, job assessment and evaluation, workplace inspections, implementation of health and safety measures, and disciplinary action.

If these actions are not exercised reasonably and fairly they may constitute workplace harassment. For example, if a worker was not scheduled for shifts solely because of his or her sexual orientation, this would likely be workplace harassment.

Differences of opinion or minor disagreements between co-workers would also not generally be considered workplace harassment.

Gender Identity:

Gender identity is each person's internal and individual experience of gender. It is their sense of being a woman, a man, both, neither, or anywhere along the gender spectrum. A person's gender identity may be the same as or different from their birth-assigned sex. Gender identity is fundamentally different from a person's sexual orientation.

Gender Expression:

Gender expression is how a person publicly presents their gender. This can include behaviour and outward appearance such as dress, hair, make-up, body language and voice. A person's chosen name and pronoun are also common ways of expressing gender.

Roles and Responsibilities of Workplace PartiesEmployer:

It is the responsibility of the employer to:

6. When a Call-in employee has not accepted the minimum number of shifts required for three (3) consecutive months they will be removed from the call in list. If the call in employees also hold a part time or full time position they will remain in those positions. If the call in employee does not hold another position, their seniority will be lost and their employment will be terminated.

All incoming and outgoing calls on the cellular phone must be recorded by the employee on the "Cell Phone Usage Form" located in the schedule book at the program.

It is recognized that Managers are often required to use their personal vehicles on TCE business (for example, moving back and forth between two program locations in the course of a normal week). Managers may approve their own usage, but their mileage claims must be approved by their immediate supervisor.

Any individual using their personal vehicle for TCE business must maintain third part liability insurance in the amount of no less than $1,000,000 and must be formally covered by their insurance contract for the extent of its business use.

When an employee requires a modified work arrangement, the employee's Program Supervisor and the Director - Operations will work together to identify and provide suitable work.

There will be no pay effects for the first six months regardless of the relative value of the work assigned. At the end of six months, if modified work is still required, the pay rate for the modified work arrangement will be established based on its own merits compared to similar jobs within the agency.

If no productive modified work position may be found, TCE will endeavour to assist the employee in finding more suitable work in another organization.

PROCEDURE

TCE employees are required to promptly report all work related injuries to their Program Supervisor or in his/her absence, to the On-Call Program Supervisor.

3. If it has been established by the treating physician that the injured worker must perform modified work, the Program Supervisor, in consultation with the Director-Operations, will offer a written modified work job description consistent with the worker's functional abilities. A copy of this offer will be sent to the Union.
4. The worker is obligated to inform the Program Supervisor of any change(s) in his/her medical condition or any difficulties encountered in performing the duties of his/her new job description
5. The Program Supervisor will maintain a regular follow-up with the workers' physician to determine the duration of the modified work placement, expected recovery date and temporary vs. permanent physical restrictions.

E.13 b) Accommodation Policy

INTENT

Total Communication Environment (TCE) is committed to providing equal treatment with respect to employment without discrimination because of a prohibited ground as described by Ontario's Human Rights Code (the Code).

Total Communication Environment (TCE) has adopted this policy to ensure that our staff are provided with meaningful employment that is ethical and fair, and is in compliance with all applicable employment and human rights legislation. All employment services provided by Total Communication Environment (TCE) shall follow the principles of dignity, independence, integration, and equal opportunity.

GUIDELINES

The approach taken by Total Communication Environment (TCE) in the provision of reasonable accommodation shall include:

- Personalized plans designed to meet the specific needs of individuals;
- Collaborative practices in the creation and implementation of accommodation plans through consultation of the person to be accommodated, medical professionals, and all applicable others;
- Compliance with all applicable legislation and collective agreement provisions; and
- An approach that ensures confidentiality and dignity.

PURPOSE

Total Communication Environment (TCE) will support the accommodation of employees and job applicants who require workplace accommodation under any of the grounds described in the Code.

Total Communication Environment (TCE) will work to achieve a workplace free from barriers by providing accommodation for the needs of those individuals covered by the Code, up to the point where it causes undue hardship for Total Communication Environment (TCE). Every effort will be made such that the impact of accommodation will not discriminate against another group protected by the Code.

PRINCIPLES

The fundamental principles underlying this policy include:

- Shared accountability and responsibility including a partnership between the individual requiring accommodation, supervisors, senior management, and Local 2605;
- Confidentiality of information concerning the accommodation of an employee will be managed in a manner consistent with the Freedom of Information Act, the Privacy Act, the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA), and all other relevant legislation where appropriate;

- Respect for dignity of the individual by ensuring where possible that accommodation is provided that meets the specific circumstances, while at the same time working to ensure the general accessibility of all employees; and
- In seeking and providing information, good faith must be exercised by all parties.

DUTY TO ACCOMMODATE

Total Communication Environment (TCE) will work to ensure that individuals protected under the Code are able to work effectively by making adjustments or modifications to the work, or the work environment, up to the point of undue hardship.

Total Communication Environment (TCE) will work with the individual that requests accommodation in an effort to ensure that the measures taken are both effective and mutually agreeable. Total Communication Environment (TCE) encourages individuals to make any needs for accommodation known to their immediate supervisor, and to work with them in addressing the issue(s).

ACCOMMODATION

Accommodation shall be provided for individuals where the work must be modified or adjusted to address the needs of the individual based on protected grounds of discrimination under human rights legislation.

Total Communication Environment (TCE) shall provide accommodation as appropriate using a consultative approach that involves the agency, the individual, and as appropriate, any applicable union representatives, healthcare professionals, and other third parties that are required to assist in the accommodation process.

Accommodation may be temporary or permanent, based on the requirements of the individual.

ACCOMMODATION PROCESS

The employee must inform their Supervisor of their need for accommodation by completing the Accommodation Request Form. The Accommodation Request Form must include the reason the accommodation is required, suggestions for necessary accommodations and supporting evidence or document(s).

The Supervisor must then, in a timely manner, inform the Human Resources Advisor of the request.

The employee may request the representation from the union, a healthcare professional, or other representative.

TCE does not require details on the nature of the employee's disability to provide an accommodation; only the functional abilities of the employee are required.

The employee requesting the accommodation, the Supervisor, the Human Resources Advisor, and all other relevant individuals will work together to develop an Individual Accommodation Plan.

The employee shall cooperate by accepting reasonable and appropriate suggestions made by TCE whether or not they are similar to those suggested by the employee on the Accommodation Request Form.

Once the Individual Accommodation Plan has been agreed upon it will be put in writing and signed by the employee requesting the accommodation and the Human Resources Advisor.

Section E: Human Resources

If an accommodation request is denied, the Human Resources Advisor will provide the employee with the reason for denial.

The employee, the Human Resources Advisor, and any other third party required must monitor the accommodation to ensure that it has effectively solved the employee's barriers.

The employee, the Human Resources Advisor, and any other third party required shall have formal reviews of the Individual Accommodation Plan at a predetermined frequency at a minimum of once per year as well as if there are any changes to the nature of the employee's disability or any changes to the employee's position.

The employee has the duty to inform the Human Resources Advisor if any circumstances change and/or if the need for accommodation ceases to exist.

Accommodation requests will be dealt with promptly. When necessary, interim accommodation will be provided while long term solutions are developed.

Confidentiality will be respected at all times as appropriate. All records and documentation will be stored securely for the duration of the accommodation and/or to the extent required by TCE and any applicable legislation.

RESPONSIBILITY

The process of accommodating individuals is a shared obligation of Total Communication Environment (TCE), the employee, CUPE Local 2605, and any other relevant individuals.

CREATING THE INDIVIDUAL ACCOMMODATION PLAN

Total Communication Environment (TCE) shall create an individual accommodation plan in consultation with the employee and all applicable others and attempt to determine methods of achieving the requirements for success in the position in alternative manners.

In the creation of an individual accommodation plan, the following criteria shall be included:

1. Identify the need for accommodation.
2. Determine objectives for performance in the role, and potential barriers.
3. Create a plan for achieving the objectives in an alternative manner.

This may include:

- Alternate shifts and/or schedules
- Transfer
- Time off for medical appointments
- Acceptance of some degree of absenteeism
- Technical aids
- Human support
- Alternative formats of work materials
- Modified duties

This list is not exhaustive.

4. Examine the options for accommodation, and select the most appropriate avenue for accommodation.
5. Implement the accommodation process.
6. Provide training as appropriate.
7. Review and revise based on feedback.

IF AN EMPLOYEE CANNOT BE ACCOMMODATED IN THEIR CURRENT POSITION

In some cases, it will be reasonable to accommodate an individual in another position. The Human Resources department, working with appropriate Total Communication Environment (TCE) management, the employee, and the union, will attempt to place the employee in another available position. This may require the assistance of third parties with specialized expertise.

Where an employee is placed in an alternate position, Total Communication Environment (TCE) shall ensure that the employee has the requisite qualifications and skillset necessary for success in the position, is capable of performing the tasks associated with the position, and that the employee agrees that the alternate work is acceptable.

ACCOMMODATING JOB APPLICANTS

Any applicant to Total Communication Environment (TCE) that communicates the need for accommodation shall be considered in a manner that is non-discriminatory, and respectful of our human rights obligations. Total Communication Environment (TCE) will notify employees and the public about the availability of accommodation for job applicants who have disabilities in compliance with the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005.

Applicants will be informed that accommodations are available, upon request, for the interview process, and for other candidate selection methods. Where an accommodation is requested, Total Communication Environment (TCE) will consult with the applicant and provide or arrange for suitable accommodation.

UNDUE HARDSHIP

Total Communication Environment (TCE) shall work to provide workplace accommodation up to the point of undue hardship. Undue hardship may occur where it is established that no forms of appropriate accommodation exist, or where the creation of accommodation would cause excessive costs for the organization, or where the accommodation would create a health and safety hazard.

E.14 OVERTIME

POLICY

TCE is committed to maintaining a balanced budget and promoting employees' mental health and well-being. Therefore, TCE's goal is to maintain a zero overtime policy.

All overtime must be pre-approved by the Program Supervisor or On-Call Program Supervisor. Any overtime which was not expressly approved by the Program Supervisor or On-Call Program Supervisor, will not be paid. Refer to the Collective Agreement regarding overtime definition and compensation.

It is the employee's responsibility to indicate when they are accepting a shift whether or not this will place them in overtime and receive approval prior to confirming the shift.

TCE will endeavour to hire new staff for the Call-In list following two consecutive payrolls with overtime charges.

E.15 PERFORMANCE REVIEW AND ASSESSMENT

POLICY

TCE recognizes that the performance review process is beneficial to both the employee and the Program Supervisor, in allowing for a review and discussion of overall achievement, along with the establishment of future professional and personal objectives.

Performance reviews shall be completed:

- after three (3) months in TCE's employ;
- prior to the conclusion of an employee's probationary period at six (6) months; and
- on an annual basis thereafter.

Both Program Supervisor and employee will sign the completed performance review to acknowledge that the performance review has occurred.

Employees shall receive the completed performance review, and a copy shall become part of their employee file.

GUIDELINES

Why do it?

The performance review and assessment process ensures that employees receive regular feedback on both their actual performance on the job, but also the skills and knowledge which they bring to it. It is not uncommon for employees and their supervisors to have very different views about the employee's performance or capabilities. Formal feedback ensures that differences of perspective are brought out in the open and dealt with constructively. The form itself assists supervisors in ensuring that they provide comprehensive feedback on both elements and also ensures that standards are being applied consistently to all employees in like positions

Performance vs Skills

An employee may have knowledge or skill in a particular area, but not apply these effectively in their day-to-day work. Similarly, an employee may be trying as hard as they can but be missing skills or knowledge they need to perform effectively. Separating what an employee knows or can do from what an employee actually accomplishes enables both employee and supervisor to effectively discuss

- Areas where performance is below required standards
- Areas where an employee requires training or development
- Areas where an employee has a particular strength that can be built upon
- Areas where contribution over and above the norm are being made and should be recognized
- Potential within the employee for positions other than the one they currently hold
- Why an employee might be a superior performer but not be seen as having potential to progress through the organization.

How often?

Performance and skills assessments are a useful tool for feedback and development planning and should be used as often as suitable for employee and supervisor. For example, a new employee or an employee new to a position may require more frequent feedback or more development support and planning than a more seasoned employee. Nevertheless, employees should be receiving individualized feedback at least once a year. It is for this reason that TCE requires a once annual assessment – that is, to ensure that employees and supervisors are engaging in necessary individualized discussion at least once each year.

360° Feedback

Employees, including supervisors and executives, may use the form and concepts incorporated into it to solicit feedback from peers, clients, families of clients or others from whom they wish to receive it. Any employee wishing to use the form in this way should be reminded that giving and receiving feedback is a skill itself and one which not all colleagues will be comfortable providing. Your supervisor can assist with this process on request.

The Process

Individual employee feedback should be done privately between the employee and the supervisor. Best results are obtained when an employee takes the form and self-assesses prior to the review session. That way, differences in perception become immediately evident. This is not a TCE requirement however, and would be undertaken at the employee's option.

The employee's immediate supervisor fills out the form using the "comments" columns to cite specific examples of good or bad performance and/or strong or weak skill areas. Examples help to make the supervisor's assessment more concrete and believable; sometimes the example used leads to fruitful discussion as to the roots of a particular incident, outcome or behaviour.

Program Supervisor's meet together to present to each other their assessments of individual employees' performance and capability. This allows for feedback from other sources as well as providing a check and balance on the supervisor's assessment. At the same time as the Program Supervisors meet to discuss their assessments, other related issues may be discussed, such as development plans, succession planning and staffing plans. In order to allow for this cross-checking of assessments, the assessment period will remain constant, with annual reviews being completed and cross-checked in October of each year and individual employee interviews following thereafter not to slip beyond February of the following year.

The review is then discussed with the employee and signed by both the employee and the supervisor. Whereas the supervisor signs to certify the copy as the official copy of the review, the employee signs or initials to indicate that they have seen the review. The employee need not agree with the assessment and may, at their own request, add comments at the end of the review.

One copy of the completed and signed review is maintained in the employee's file for a three year period unless otherwise specified in the collective agreement.

The Form

There are different forms for different positions:

- TCE Executive – includes Director Operations and Executive Director
- TCE Administration – includes Director of Finance, Finance Assistant and Executive Assistant
- Residential Counsellor
- Call-in Counsellor
- Overnight Awake Counsellor
- Overnight Asleep Counsellor
- Program Supervisor

Section E: Human Resources

Each form is designed to generate assessments of the individual contributions and skills pertinent to the job held by the individual. (The exception to this is the TCE Administration form which is designed to be somewhat generic.)

Page 1 of each form provides simple check boxes to assess performance and contribution. This is the section that assesses what an individual has actually done for TCE. The ratings range from 1 – Performance not acceptable to 5 – Performance Outstanding, with the 3 rating as the norm – Fully Satisfactory. Where an employee has not had an opportunity to demonstrate a particular area of responsibility or a supervisor has not had an opportunity to observe the employee’s performance in a particular area, then the designation “n/a” should be put into the Comments column and the assessment codes left blank.

The “Comments” column allows for a supervisor to cite specific examples by way of explanation and/or to indicate an area of concern or a “missing quality” that may or may not be reflected in the rating.

At the bottom of the table on this page are one or more rows indicating “Other –”. This allows a supervisor to add an accomplishment or achievement particular to the individual employee that may be unique to that person (such as a project completed) or deserving of special mention (such as a unique opportunity the employee came across in the course of their work, or an area where the employee made a particularly impressive contribution).

Underneath this is an area for an Overall Assessment of the employee’s performance. Bear in mind that this is not an arithmetic reflection of the number of tick marks in each column, but reflects an overall picture of the total package of contribution. Both employees and supervisors are reminded that the various rows in this table do not and should not carry identical weight in the overall assessment. Also bear in mind that the preponderance of employees will needs must fall into the “3” category since this reflects the norm.

Finally, there is a space for the supervisor to sum up the employee’s performance and accomplishments for the period in a couple of sentences. These sentences should be summative in nature but with an opportunity to single out one or two exceptional (either positive or negative) performance areas. In the case where an employee has been given a “1 – Not Acceptable”, these comments should clearly indicate an expectation for improved performance in that area.

Page 2 of the form provides simple checkboxes to assess skills and knowledge. Whereas the performance assessment on Page 1 provides the best indicator of contribution to the organization, the skills assessment provides the best indicator of development needs as well as potential within the organization.

The rating scheme is the same as that for performance with “1” indicating an unacceptable skill level, a “3” indicating fully satisfactory skill level, and “5” indicating outstanding skills/knowledge in that area. Employees and supervisors should note that a “2 – Needs work” rating is not necessarily a negative rating. These are the most useful ratings because they indicate where an individual has development needs. However, persistent and extensive 2 ratings do indicate an individual who isn’t quite meeting the mark for this position.

The skills indicated in the rows are particular to the specific position. However, if an employee requests additional feedback in a particular skill area or has been identified as prime for development to the next level, then other skill areas may be added to begin providing feedback in skill areas beyond the specific job.

Once again, the overall rating row does not necessarily reflect the addition of the tick marks from the individual columns but rather reflects the supervisor’s overall assessment of the individual’s skill and knowledge.

Also a space is provided for summative description of the employee’s abilities, but development needs are provided on the succeeding page.

Page 3 of the form provides space for the supervisor and employee to make plans based on the skills and knowledge assessment as well as the desires and interests of the employee, for the development of the employee during the coming period.

Typically, the development needs will reflect a combination of observed weak areas, personal interests of the employee, and future staffing needs of the organization. A newer employee will have greater development needs than a more experience employee, but the more experience employee still needs to learn and grow to prevent themselves from becoming stale on the job.

The opportunities sought reflect the most specific possible types of opportunities required by the individual. In the simplest case, this will be a training course in a weak area. However, development also includes, time on the job, special projects, exposure to certain individuals or situations, coaching, movement to a new position for broadening or temporary acting positions. It is the supervisor's job to look for opportunities suitable to the development needs of the individual and it is the employee's job to seek out and exploit opportunities presented. If an employee is not able to access the development they require, he/she should seek out a further interview with their supervisor to develop a plan to do so.

E.16 PROFESSIONAL REFERENCES

POLICY

TCE supports the concept of, and will provide, references for employees.

All professional references regarding TCE employees will be provided only by Management.

Generic letters of reference will not be provided upon an employee's departure. Generally, references will be provided verbally, over the phone. Written references will be provided only in certain circumstances for a specific purpose (ie. University application, specific job).

E.17 SHIFT CHANGES

POLICY

Only two (2) shift change request, of an equitable number of hours, and within the same job classification, is permitted within the pay period.

All requests for shift change must be provided in writing, 48 hours prior to the requested change, for approval by the Program Supervisor. Program Supervisor signature of approval or non-approval of shift change requests will be returned to the employee, by copy of the original written request..

All Program Supervisors will document the status of all shift change requests in each respective program log book.

E.18 STAFF ATTENDANCE AND PUNCTUALITY

POLICY

Attendance and punctuality is a high priority at TCE. TCE expects employee to respect work schedules and to report ready to work and prepared to commence duties as per scheduled times.

The Agency does not permit any late arrival and/or early departure from the employee's work station outside of pre-approved leave requests.

An employee with sub-standard attendance or punctuality patterns will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal.

PROCEDURE

When an employee knows he/she will be absent, it is his/her responsibility to notify the On Call Program Supervisor, providing a minimum of three hours' notice. If an employee has been scheduled for a day shift, they must call between 9:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. of the prior evening. This notice period is necessary in order to ensure replacement.

If an employee does not comply with the notice period, the Program Supervisor may require him/her to report to work until a replacement arrives at the location. It is recognized that this may not always be possible, depending on the gravity of the illness and/or circumstances.

If an employee does not report ready to work on time, according to their schedule, they will not be compensated for that period of time.

The Program Supervisor will regularly review the employee's attendance record and may follow up with the employee as to any long term effects it may be having on TCE. Frequent reoccurrences of late arrival and/or early departure or unjustified absences will result in disciplinary action.

E.19 STAFF TRAINING

POLICY

Total Communication Environment recognizes that the employment and retention of qualified and competent staff is essential to the success of delivering high quality programs and services to our residents.

Failure to attend the course in CPI and Mat Restraint will result in employees not being able to accept shifts until re-certified. A lapse in certification may be grounds for discipline, and employees will be required to certify at their own expense and time.

For most employee-initiated training, the employee is not compensated. If operationally permitted, the Program Supervisor may accommodate the employee with the time off from their regularly scheduled time. This time off must be made through a Request for Leave.

However, TCE may, at its discretion, elect to pay for time and costs for employee-initiated training where the training is considered advisable and pertinent.

E.20 VOLUNTEERS / STUDENT PLACEMENTS

POLICY

TCE recognizes the inherent value in maintaining and developing natural support networks for both the residents and the Agency. It is TCE's objective to involve these natural support networks in an augmentative manner, which will allow existing paid staff to be more effectively utilized.

Volunteers / students will be expected to hold to the same high standard of conduct as any employee:

- TCE will involve potential volunteers in an interview process. This process will be determined by Management, based upon the needs of the potential volunteer position.
- TCE will maintain a current, confidential file for each volunteer in a secure location. Volunteers will be required to provide personal references, which will become part of their file.

E.21 MEDICATION ERROR DISCIPLINARY PROTOCOL

POLICY

MEDICATION DOCUMENTATION ERRORS

Definition:

A documentation error is defined as follows:

- staff administer medication to the residents and neglects to sign off the MAR Sheets.

When an individual has made three medication errors within a year, they will be provided with retraining.

Should the errors continue, then progressive disciplinary action will follow, up to and including termination.

MEDICATION TREATMENT ERRORS

Definition:

Defined as when a treatment was not provided or treatment given to wrong individual.

When a treatment error occurs, the Program Supervisor will bring the error to the attention of the individual. When numerous errors are concurrent then disciplinary measures will be initiated and put on the individual's file.
